Pay American Tourists Their Rightful Premium

Apart from the natural beauties that are an ever-present lure and attraction to tourists in Canada, the premium on United States dollars is the greatest possible aid to promotion of traffic from that country. In terms of dollars, it provides a bonus of 10 percent. One enterprising group has pictured it as "one day free in ten." To others, it is a pleasing novelty.

For any one of these conceptions to be effective, the premium must be paid by the Canadians catering to the tourist. It is not only a national service to pay the premium, paramount in wartime, but it is the law as well. It is an offence, punishable by severe penalties, to accept United States currency at anything other than the official rate.

Because Canada is in urgent need of United States dollars to buy aeroplanes and other vital war equipment in the U. S. A., this American currency should be turned in to the banks without undue delay. It is an offence to hold it for more than a reasonable period of a few days after it has been received.

No Canadian loses by payment of the premium. Merchants, hotel-keepers and others pay the current premium of ten percent and the banks pay out a like premium in receiving the American currency. The premium is ten percent, whether it be for U. S. paper currency, bank cheques, travellers' cheques or silver.

It is a national service, and a patriotic duty—pay the tourist his premium.

Deceased is mourned by his wife, two daughters, Miss Jean, at home, and Mrs. Ann Freeze, of Champion; and two sons, David and George of Princeton.

Summerfallow

It is a noteworthy fact that even in the weediest districts, some farms are clean. On May 29, I took a short drive through a district north of Winnipeg. Very heavy infestations of sow thistle, blue lettuce, leafy spurge, quack grass, stinkweed and a variety of annuals were prominent. However, there were two farms on which scarcely a weed was to be found, and the owners or operators were not just lucky.

If a farm is clean, weed-free seed must have been used, and wise tillage practices followed. Wise tillage practices include timely and thorough fall and spring cultivation and careful summerfallowing.

At this time of year weeds grow very rapidly. Delayed operations often lead to plowing under a new crop of weed seeds—a dangerous form of insanity. If the summer-fallow is to be plowed, it should either be plowed early or surface-tilled in May and early June. "Flow-less" fallows must be tilled often enough to prevent annual weeds from setting seed.

There are many farms in the prairie provinces so infested with perennial weeds that eradication would cost more than the land is now worth. If we are not careful, there will be many more.

Weeds delivered to any grain buyer of the line elevator companies sponsoring this Agricultural Department will be forwarded to us for identification. Specimens may also be sent to Dominion Experimental Stations or Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

Can. Wheat Board Regulations Crop Year 1941-42

Under the Canadian Wheat Board Regulations covering the crop year 1941-42, every producer who makes delivery of or sells wheat to any party, or takes it to a mill to be gisted, must have a permit and all such deliveries must be entered in the permit book, and be within his established quota at the delivery point.

It is further provided that no person, unless he is duly authorized by the Canadian Wheat Board, shall take delivery, buy, or mill wheat, and no person shall sell, deliver, or otherwise dispose of any wheat to, or have it milled by any person not so authorized by the Canadian Wheat Board.

Elevator companies who are licensed by the Board of Grain Commissioners who operate under a regular Wheat Board Agreement will be handled through their head offices. However, all other parties wishing to deal in wheat will have to make application to the Canadian Wheat Board, 423 Main Street, Winnipeg, Manitoba, setting forth full particulars of their business.

As no purchases or deliveries of wheat may be made until authority is received by the Board, it is requested that these applications be made as soon as possible.

A VAST COUNTRY

Every time we make the trip to Alberta from Ontario and return we realize more and more the vastness of our great country. This greatness and the future of Canada is the responsibility of every individual.

It is a common saying that the government is no better nor no worse than the people who elected them. This being true how careful we should be to see that our actions and our thoughts are worthy of this Canada of ours.

Unless we do our share in the defence of our nation we may not realize until too late what blessings we possess in Canada.

Let us continue to further Canada's war effort by encouragement to recruiting drives, and other national calls and above all create and maintain the community spirit which is essential to co-operative efforts.

Don't forget—you can still buy War Savings Certificates.

FRIENDSHIPS RENEWED

The publisher again enjoyed the friendship and hospitality of the people of Champion last week. He regrets that business connections made the stay only 24 hours. Coming 2200 miles for such a short time appears on the surface to be strange and yet the brief visit was enjoyed.

Don't forget—you can still buy War Savings Certificates.

Interesting Plots!

The "Crop Testing Plan," now in its eleventh year of work, has set up throughout the prairies a large number of testing and demonstration plots where the pure varieties of wheat, oats, barleys and flax, together with the average material produced on farms, can be seen all growing in comparison one with the other.

Any farmer would benefit by visiting these plots.

For the location of the plot nearest to you, see the Searle Agent.
